

Advanced Communication & Presentation

Nov 6 - Dec 25, 2026

At the executive level, communication is not simply about conveying information—it is a critical leadership instrument. How leaders frame complex issues, navigate competing interests, and communicate under pressure can shape enterprise decisions, stakeholder confidence, strategic alignment, and long-term business value.

This advanced program is designed to sharpen the judgement, versatility, and executive presence required in consequential business settings. It also addresses the added complexity of communicating across linguistic and cultural boundaries, with particular relevance for Chinese leaders working in English-speaking and international environments.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Senior executives and experienced leaders with at least 12 years in the workforce who hold substantial leadership responsibilities within large, established organizations.

THIS PROGRAM WILL HELP YOU TO

- Apply contextual intelligence to adapt your communication style across audiences, leadership levels, and power dynamics.
- Exercise influence across functions, geographies, and levels of authority.
- Command consequential discussions and presentations to shape decisions and advance enterprise priorities.

A Four-Week Executive Communication Intensive

01 EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATION DIAGNOSTIC

Assess the patterns that strengthen or limit your authority, clarity, and influence in visible situations. Establish a focused development priority for the program.

02 INFLUENCE AND COMMUNICATION RANGE

Adapt your approach across audiences, cultures, and power dynamics. Practise a broader range of communication styles and deploy them deliberately in different situations.

03 EXECUTIVE PRESENTATIONS

Structure and deliver presentations around the decision, commitment, or change required from the audience. Command the room, respond effectively under challenge, and create moments that make your message memorable.

04 INTEGRATION AND APPLICATION

Apply the full range of capabilities in a demanding business simulation. Consolidate feedback and define a practical 30-day plan for continued application.

LEARNING APPROACH

REAL WORK

Participants bring a current meeting, conversation, or presentation into the program. Practice is anchored in a meaningful business outcome rather than a generic exercise.

DELIBERATE PRACTICE

Participants test their language, structure, and presence, receive direct feedback, and rehearse again while the situation remains fresh.

PEER LEARNING

The small-group format exposes participants to different leadership contexts and communication choices. Observing others sharpens judgment as well as technique.

WHAT THE PROGRAM INCLUDES

- Six hours of live small-group work
- Executive communication diagnostic
- Direct feedback and repeated rehearsal
- Application to current business situations
- Workplace practice between sessions
- Integrated simulation and 30-day plan
